

Jennifer Canfield is working towards a PhD in Choral Music Education. She has worked as a GTA in both the Music and Music Education departments, teaching Music and Related Arts as well as directing the Women's Chorus, accompanying the Concert Choir and the AU Singers, and voice lessons. Her BME and MS in Education with an emphasis in Music are from Troy State University. Her teaching experiences include directing Elementary, Middle and High School choirs (Women's Choir, Concert Choir, Show Choir, Ensembles), and directing several musicals.

As a soprano soloist, Ms. Canfield has performed with regional theatre, regional opera and orchestras throughout the United States and abroad. Her teaching experiences have included working with DODDS in England, teaching in Alabama and South Carolina, and working at junior colleges and four-year universities. She has also worked as and accompanist with community and church choirs and served as the staff accompanist for all vocal students at Charleston Southern University.
